YOU CAN PLAY REDUX

Please join us for our general meeting on Monday, April 23 at 7:00 pm at Jewish Family Service, 8788 Balboa Avenue, San Diego. PLEASE NOTE, WE MEET THE 4TH MONDAY OF THE MONTH, NOT APRIL 30TH.

We are pleased to have Martha Henderson as our guest speaker. She was scheduled to speak at our last meeting, but had to reschedule. Martha is the San Diego connection to the national organization, You Can Play. YCP works to ensure safety and inclusion for all who participate in sports, including LGBTQ athletes, coaches, and fans. You Can Play believes sports teams should focus on an athlete's skills, work ethic, and competitive spirit, not their sexual orientation and/or gender identity. They promote inclusive policies and programs that support the LGBTQ community.

Thank you to Kathie and Sam Moehlig for stepping in at the last moment to be our guest speakers. They are both vocal advocates for the transgender and non-conforming community; it is San Diego's good fortune to have them as part of the community.

Join us for support groups, followed by the cookie social, then Martha's presentation.

DREAMS FOR CHANGE

At our November, 2017 meeting, the program coordinator for Dreams for Change was our guest speaker. Elizabeth's focus was on their Safe Parking Program for homeless or low-income individuals and families who are living out of their cars. One of their locations is Jewish Family Service.

The program always needs donations of toiletries, blankets, microwavable canned goods, clothing of all sizes, books, toys, etc. It's as simple as bringing the items to the general meeting and marking them "Safe Parking Program." Whatever you leave at the front desk will be picked up that evening by the program coordinator. You will be doing a mitzvah.

LOVE, SIMON

It is the hope of director Greg Berlanti that the movie, "Love, Simon" brings conversations between parents and their children.

"Love, Simon" is the first of its kind, with two gay teens connecting via email, confronting their queerness together, and finding their happy, out-and-proud endings. According to the producer, one of the best parts of producing this film is that some teen in Small Town, America, where oftentimes queer movies don't get a theatrical release, one can see him or herself reflected on the big screen. Instead of the usual distribution of some gay-themed films (600-900), "Love, Simon" opened to a whopping 2,400-plus theaters.

TEEN-VERSIONARY

Diversionsary Theatre is proud to present Teen-Versionary, their first teen acting company exploring the LGBT experience. Teen-Versionary runs Monday-Friday, July 9-19, 10:00 am-3:00 pm. Concluding on Friday, July 20, the group will present the play, queerSpawn, written by Mallory Avidon, at 3:00 pm and 7:00 pm.

The group is comprised of LGBT teens and their allies, creating a safe space to creatively explore the story and characters. Youth from 13 to recent high school graduates are welcome to apply for a position in Teen-Versionary.

queerSpawn tells the story of The Kid, a fourteen-year-old starting high school in a small town. Everyone knows he has two moms, and that's just the beginning of his trouble. While dodging bullies, The Kid conjures imaginary allies, including sex/relationship advice columnist Dan Savage and Dr. McSteamy from TV's Grey's Anatomy. This provocative, hilarious and poignant new play takes an unflinching look at what it means to be a teen today, and the persisting stigma around the LGBT identity.

Tuition is $400 for two weeks. Some full and partial scholarships are available. To enroll, go to <http://diversionary.org/education/>, click on Teen-Versionary and then CLICK HERE. For questions, please contact Education Associate, Skyler Sullivan, at ssullivan@diversionary.org.

CONGRATS TO TONI ATKINS

It's hard to imagine a more qualified and effective leader shattering two glass ceilings in the California Senate. Toni Atkins is the first woman and first person in the LGBTQ community to become the President pro tempore of the California State Senate. Although her political accomplishments started back in 2000, most recently, Toni was the Speaker of the CA State Assembly (and also represents the 39th district, encompassing most of San Diego).

Throughout her career, Senator Atkins has been a role model for her constituents, for other elected officials, for the LGBTQ community and for the next generation of change makers.

HARVEY MILK DIVERSITY BREAKFAST

The 10th Annual Harvey Milk Diversity Breakfast will be held on Friday, May 18 from 7:30-9:00 am at the Hilton San Diego Bayfront Hotel. Proceeds benefit the social services programs of the LGBT Center. Attended by more than 1,000 people, businesses, groups, and organizations, this San Diego event is the largest Harvey Milk celebration in the state of California! What a way to honor a gifted LGBT activist who brought about so many changes in the community. For ticket information: www.thecentersd.org.

TRANSYOUTH CARE PRESENTS...

A comprehensive two-day training designed for professionals interested in providing sensitive and competent mental health and medical care for gender non-conforming children, transgender youth and young adults. CMEs, CEs, and CEUs are offered.

CONDOLENCES

Our deepest sympathy to our PFLAG president, Terrie Vorono, for the recent loss of her mother, Joanna Kendall. Both she and her late husband, Dr. Lloyd Kendall, were active PFLAG members for many years and were very supportive from day one. We extend our condolences to Terrie's children, Ben and Jake, as well.

THE MILITARY’S BACK AND FORTH

Recently, the top uniformed official in the U.S. Army, Army Chief of Staff General Mark Milley, undermined recommendations from Defense Secretary James Mattis against transgender military service — which led to President Trump’s ban on transgender people in the armed forces — by asserting their presence has had no negative impact on unit cohesion.

Milley, along with Army Secretary Mark Esper, made remarks during congressional testimony on whether a transgender service person renders the military “unprepared.” Senator Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY), has introduced legislation against Trump’s transgender military ban.

Gillibrand, who cited concerns about unit cohesion in the aftermath of the anti-trans recommendations, asked the Army officials if transgender service — first allowed in the Obama years under former Defense Secretary Ashton Carter before Trump tried to ban it — had resulted in any problems. Both officials replied it had not.

“We have a finite number,” Milley said. “We know who they are, and it is monitored very closely because we’re concerned about that and want to make sure that they are in fact treated with dignity and respect and no have precisely zero reports of issues of cohesion, discipline, moral and all sorts of things.”

The evaluation that transgender service hasn’t negatively affected unit cohesion stands in contrast to the report produced by Mattis to justify Trump’s transgender ban, which was made public last month by the White House. In part, the report stated that, “Undermining the clear sex-differentiated lines with respect to physical fitness; berthing, bathroom and shower facilities; and uniform and grooming standards, which have all served the branches well to date, risks unnecessarily adding to the challenges faced by leaders at all levels, potentially fraying unit cohesion, and threatening good order and discipline.”

Aaron Belkin, director of the San Francisco-based Palm Center, said in a statement that Milley’s testimony speaks volumes about transgender service and undermines Mattis’ conclusions.

“It is telling for the Army chief of staff to acknowledge there have been ‘zero’ problems with cohesion, discipline or morale just weeks after a DOD report, ostensibly based on months of research, insisted that transgender troops pose a risk to cohesion, discipline and morale,” Belkin said.

Gillibrand also added that the ban could be harmful. “Transgender service members have now seen the department’s recommendation and are on notice that if the policy is implemented, they will get kicked out for seeking care or treatment for their gender dysphoria,” Gillibrand said. “I’m worried that this uncertainty will have a negative impact on these individuals, but also on their units and that fear of these recommendations will stop these soldiers from seeking care.”

In the wake of a letter from Democrats seeking information on the process that led Mattis to come to his recommendations against transgender service, Gillibrand asked the officials about the degree to which they had input on this recommendation, citing objections to the recommendations from the American Medical Association about its conclusions.

When Gillibrand asked who represented the Army on the panel of “experts” Mattis convened, Milley said it was Vice Chief of the Army General James McConville. When Gillibrand asked if any medical experts were included on the panel, Milley said he was unsure, but knew McConville “consulted with lots of internal folks, medical professionals, absolutely yes.” Gillibrand asked Milley to submit to the Senate Armed Services Committee the names of the experts who were consulted, and Milley agreed to do at a later time. Funny how experts were “consulted,” but not on the panel. They were fraidy cats to have someone on the panel with expertise.

Aaron Belkin added, “... research as well as lessons from two years of inclusive policy and 18 foreign militaries that allow transgender service is that treating everybody according to the same standards is what’s best for readiness. The problem with the Trump ban is that it is based on scientific distortions, cherry-picked data and double standards that apply only to transgender troops, and no one else.”

DAY OF SILENCE

On Friday, April 27, GLSEN (formerly Gay, Lesbian and Straight Education Network) will be supporting the 28th year of Day of Silence. This student-led national event organized in thousands of schools, brings awareness to the silencing effect of anti-LGBTQ name-calling, bullying, and harassment in schools. Students from middle school to college take a vow of silence in an effort to encourage schools and classmates to address the problem of anti-LGBTQ behavior. Since the current U.S. administration sees fit to normalize LGBTQ discrimination, it is more important than ever to call attention to the bullying.

DINING OUT FOR LIFE®; HELP FIGHT AIDS

Be a part of The LGBT Center's 12th annual Dining Out for Life® event. Every year, The Center gathers over 100 restaurants to participate. It will be held on Thursday, April 26. The establishments listed give a minimum of 25 percent of their proceeds on food and liquor sales to The LGBT Center for HIV/AIDS services/programs. Please spread the word! It's not too late to volunteer to be a goodwill ambassador at one of the participating restaurants.

For info, contact Ian Johnson at ijohnson@thecentersd.org or 619.692.2077, ext. 247.

All the restaurants are located in the San Diego area with the exception of the seven restaurants listed under North County. We hope you will plan on having a meal (or two or three) at one of the restaurants. You can call restaurants to ask if they accept reservations.

EXPLORING GENDER. TOGETHER.

That is the theme for Gender Odyssey taking place from June 21-24 in Pasadena (Sheraton Pasadena Hotel). Gender Odyssey is an international conference focused on the needs and interests of transgender and gender diverse children of all ages, their families and supporters, and the professionals who serve them.

The conference is packed with thought-provoking workshops, including medical information and consultation opportunities, professional education, discussion groups, networking, children and youth programming, and social events. This one-of-a-kind annual gathering attracts people from all over the world for an uplifting weekend of connection, support, and community. Some of the workshops will include: Family Programs, Expanded Professional Tract, and Expanded

Youth & Young Adult Programming. New this year, since it was such a hit in Seattle last year, is Kids Day Camp. Children ages 4-12 can participate in a variety of fun games and activities—including theatre, dance, art, music, scavenger hunts, and costume parades—while their parents, guardians, and caregivers attended educational sessions.

Professionals who are encouraged to attend the Gender Odyssey Professional's conference include doctors, teachers, principals, therapists, school nurses, social workers, school counselors, administrators, and anyone else who could benefit from learning more.

For registration (which may include some discounts), go to www.genderodyssey.org/los-angeles/.

SMILE!

If you have an account with Amazon, you can help raise funds for PFLAG San Diego County by changing your account to smile.Amazon. For every purchase, our chapter will receive .05% of the dollar amount of the order. This may not sound like a lot, but it adds up with the more people we have participating.
